

The Relationship between the Virtue of Morality and the Epistemology of Virtue

Sadegh Mirahmadi<sup>1*</sup>, Sayyed Mojtaba Jalali<sup>2</sup>

Abstract

Many epistemological concepts are ethical concepts that epistemologists have adopted from ethical scholars. The epistemology of virtue is one of the new approaches to contemporary epistemology, the founders of which have adopted theories of virtue ethics. The epistemology of virtue and virtue ethics, instead of relying on beliefs and actions on the individuals and characteristics of their clerks, emphasize the correctness and inaccuracy of acts and beliefs based on virtues and moral and rational vices. As much as we are responsible for our actions and actions, we are also responsible for our knowledge and beliefs, and as our deeds and actions are praised and blamed, our knowledge and beliefs are also praised and blamed. . In this article, which has been done through descriptive and content analysis, we first discuss the general ethics of virtue and explain the views of the epistemology of virtue, then we will discuss the relationship between virtue ethics and the epistemology of virtue.

Keywords: virtue, morality, epistemology, virtue ethics, epistemology of virtue.

---

1 -Assistant Professor, Department of Islamic Education, Shahrekord University, mirahmadi@lit.sku.ac.ir.

2 -Assistant Professor, Department of Islamic Education, Shahrekord University, s.m.jalali@sku.ac.ir.

* Corresponding Author: , mirahmadi@lit.sku.ac.ir.

Received 2021/12/26 Accepted: 2022/02/23